Dear Parents,

The NHS Speech and Language Therapist who is linked with our school (Sarah Milton) is going to be working with year one over the next term to introduce a language programme called 'Colourful Semantics'.

This will be used to develop the spoken and written language skills of all children in the class and will not involve any one-to-one interventions at this time.

In order to collect evidence of the children's progress, some of their written work may be photographed and some of their verbal descriptions may be written down.

These will be anonymous and no information about individual children will be stored.

Best wishes,

Shaaron
